Blood clot

by MiaQc

Summary

Alana, 14 years old, lives in the year 3000. After finding herself in the year 1990, she lives with Jenny Kelly and her family. 10 years later, Alana is in a loving relationship with Jenny. They live in a house in very bad condition but they're happy.

In the evening, Alana hears Jenny screaming and she joins her in the bedroom.

"What's going on?" She asks her love.

"I try to masturbate but it fucking HURTS!"

"This isn't normal. Did everything go well with your last client?"

Jenny, to earn a living, sells her body and has done so since she was 18. She dropped out of her studies. It has cut all ties with her mother, Irene, who doesn't want to hear anything from her. Only her younger brother, Petey, still talks to her over the phone. As for Alana, she is studying to become a doctor but it's expensive, thus Alana works part-time in a pharmacy to pay for her studies.

"Yes, yes." Jenny said to Alana. "He was very nice to me."

Alana pondered.

"I can use my Transducer to check if everything is okay inside your vagina."

She said this in a neutral, professional tone, as any good Healer would. What Alana should have become if she were still in the year 3000, but the Time Capsule that made her travel through time was destroyed. The man who had kidnapped her and brought her to the past, Silverthorn, is dead.

"Uh... I'm not sure, Alana. Do you still use it often?"

"Yes, every day. I don't want to lose what I've learned."

Suddenly, the electronic voice of her Computer Companion, PJ, comes out of her purple bracelet.

"Alana. Your neurobiology class is about to start. Tulista will want to see you after class, as well."

Jenny starts to laugh.

"PJ is still buggy. He thinks you're still in the year 3000!"

"No, he's not buggy! I'm the one who didn't disable the old backup of his schedule function."

Alana is telling the truth. She doesn't want to forget her past, so having PJ reminds her of her old classes does her good.

"If you say so." Say Jenny.

Jenny tries to masturbate again and she screams.

"FUCKING SHIT! Why does it hurt so much?"

"I can use my Transducer to check if everything is okay inside your vagina." Alana repeats.

Jenny sighs. She runs her hand through her purple-dyed blonde hair. Alana's hair is a dark brown.

"Well, okay, but be careful."

Alana will take her Transducer, which was stored in a small drawer. It is a white headband with a transparent crystal on a black teardrop shaped plate. Alana puts it on her forehead. She returns to her beloved and asks her to spread her legs.

"I need to see your entrance."

Jenny complies and the entrance to her vagina is clearly visible to Alana. Alana concentrates. The transparent crystal turns pink. It emits a radiation beam of the same color. The beam travels to Jenny's vaginal hole and even further inside. Jenny doesn't feel it inside her.

"I feel something." Says Alana. "It seems like a blood clot."

"A blood clot? How did it get there?"

"There are several possibilities but it must be the cause of your pain. One second."

Alana focuses more and Jenny screams in surprise as she begins to bleed from her vagina.

"Alana, what did you do?"

"It's less stressful for the body to evacuate the blood in a natural way."

"Maybe, but it fucking hurts!"

"I'll check your ovaries."

"That too? Why not my whole reproductive system, while you're at it?"

Alana smiles and does so. Jenny holds back from screaming, she's in so much pain. Finally, the pink beam disappears and the Transducer's crystal becomes transparent again. Alana is finished.

"Everything is okay." She said, while taking the Transducer off her forehead to wear it around her neck.

"Good." Jenny says. "But I'm still bleeding! Is that normal?"

"Yes. It was a big clot."

"Great." Jenny said with a sigh.

Alana kisses her to reassure her. Jenny goes to the bathroom to evacuate the remaining blood in the toilet. Alana takes the sheets from the bed and puts them in the washing machine. She laughs as she thinks about where, years ago at Irene Kelly's home, she had put her clothes in the microwave to wash them. She was so naive back then.

"Alana." Said PJ's voice. "Your class has begun."

"Oh, PJ." She said, before going to the bathroom door's front to ask Jenny if everything's alright.
